

Cool/td

Starting now: container rental by the day.

We get it.

Structural simplification.

We have listened to your feedback and understood your suggestions. That is why we have developed a new pricing model for our special product Cool/td-Active. Now you can book any cool container offered by Lufthansa Cargo on a daily basis – we call it our “Pay per day” concept.

Total transparency.

In the future, you will only have to pay for the actual number of days you need. The previous four-day minimum lease period is no longer a mandatory requirement. This means a wide range of immediate benefits for you: more transparency, a simple pricing method and only one additional fee in case of contract changes. In most cases, your cargo will now fly for less.

Full flexibility.

Dropping the minimum lease period also eliminates the demurrage fee and many other fees that made our pricing system complex. This makes our price structure simpler, more flexible and more transparent. In addition, you will now benefit from a 48-hour grace period during which no additional fees for contract changes will be charged – no matter what the cause: be it customs, health authorities, or anything else.

Customer-focused pricing.

When Lufthansa Cargo introduced the current pricing model, we set an industry standard. Now we are redefining it. Try it for yourself and benefit from our innovative approach.
